

2020 STEM DISCOVERY CAMPAIGN

Innovative Trends in Education

Scientix organised two competitions this year: the first competition invited participants to organise (online) activities that promote STEM in the context of any STEM subject in class or share their experience and tips regarding remote teaching on the STEM Discovery Campaign Blog. The second Scientix competition encouraged participants to plan activities based on resources available in the Scientix Resource Repository.

135 submissions, 23 winners

(chosen based on their submitted blog posts)
